Law firms circumnavigating EU lobbying rules, say transparency group

Written by Martin Banks on 31 May 2016 in News

Claim comes as EU consultation on mandatory transparency register comes to a close.

A study by transparency group ALTER-EU says that “too many” law firms in Brussels are absent from the EU lobby transparency register “while clearly running EU lobbying services.”

Many of the nine law firms highlighted originate in the United States where they are registered in the compulsory US lobby register, says the Alliance for Lobbying Transparency and Ethics Regulation.

“The boycott of the voluntary EU lobby register is further evidence to back our demand that European Commission President Jean-Claude Juncker should introduce a legally-binding register,” says the Brussels-based group.

RELATED CONTENT
- Rebecca Taylor: More transparency needed in EU tobacco dealings (https://www.theparliamentmagazine.eu/blog/more-transparency-needed-eu-tobacco-dealings)
- EU ombudsman wants more transparency on commission-appointed expert groups (https://www.theparliamentmagazine.eu/articles/news/eu-ombudsman-wants-more-transparency-commission-appointed-expert-groups)

The analysis, ‘Lobbying law firms - unfinished business’, published on Tuesday (May 31), comes as the Commission’s three month consultation on a mandatory transparency register comes to an end.

However, the Commission’s proposal for a mandatory register would, claim ALTER-EU, be mandatory in name only and not backed by law.

“The Commission must acknowledge that there will always be some lobbyists who will seek to take advantage of voluntary lobby registration and not bother to sign up”, says Nina Katzemich from LobbyControl, who authored the analysis for ALTER-EU.

“Our analysis shows nine cases of law firms, many of whom promote their EU lobby operations on their website, but who have not signed up. We believe that these nine are just the tip of the iceberg.”

The nine examples, she says, also illustrate that law firms in Brussels can be “powerful lobbyists.”

Because they understand the technical details of upcoming directives, on behalf of fee-paying clients, they can discuss them with officials or draft amendments for EU parliamentarians, says ALTER-EU.

“One law firm, for example, boasts about being a leader in helping companies, industry associations and governments navigate and shape EU rules on its website. Several of the highlighted law firms actively support the Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership (TTIP), no doubt recognising the profit opportunities likely to come from the proposed, but controversial, investment arbitration system.

“Because they understand the technical details of upcoming directives, on behalf of fee-paying clients, they can discuss them with officials or draft amendments for EU parliamentarians, says ALTER-EU.

“The Commission can tackle this problem in Brussels without a legally-binding system. A register which is mandatory in name only will simply not do the trick.”

Meanwhile, European ombudsman, Emily O’Reilly, has opened a “strategic inquiry” into how the Commission carries out conflict of interest assessments for its approximately 40 special advisers, chosen to give Commissioners particular expert advice.

O’Reilly’s inquiry follows complaints regarding the appointment of former German Christian Social Union (CSU) Chair Edmund Stoiber as head of the European Commission’s high level group on administrative burdens.

About the author
Martin Banks is a journalist for the Parliament Magazine

Interested in this content? (https://www.theparliamentmagazine.eu/user/register)

Sign up to our free daily email bulletins (http://bit.ly/1Fpopna).
Law firms circumnavigating EU lobbying rules, say transparency group | The Parliament Magazine

2/7/2017

European Commission

Business and industry

Government and politics

Related Articles

Related Partner Content

Fourth Railway Package: more competition requires more social protection, says transport workers union

The European Parliament should reject the Fourth Railway Package’s flawed and confusing trialogue compromise, argues Sabine Trier

6 February 2016
Law firms circumnavigating EU lobbying rules, say transparency group | The Parliament Magazine

26 May 2017

It’s time for Montenegrins to reflect on what kind of future they want for their country, argues Matthias Menke.

23 June 2014

The rule of law must be firmly on this week’s EU-Montenegro summit agenda, argues Andrey Petrushinin.

Most Read

EU governments not obliged to cooperate with Panama Papers investigation
6 February 2017

Movers and Shakers | 6 February 2017
6 February 2017

Childhood obesity affects all layers of society
6 February 2017

EU needs prudent approach to audiovisual media services directive
6 February 2017

I understand
EU needs a strong platform for European works

7 February 2017

Articles: EU needs a strong platform for European works. This article discusses the importance of creating a strong platform for European works to enhance collaboration and innovation. The article highlights the need for a European platform that can foster greater unity and cooperation among European countries.

AVMS-directive: Legal framework must balance competitiveness and consumer protection

7 February 2017

This article examines the AVMS-directive, which is a legal framework that balances the need for competitiveness within the media industry and the protection of consumer rights.

EU needs a strong platform for European works

EU Emissions Trading System must recognise those sectors unable to pass-on carbon costs

22 November 2016

This article highlights the importance of the EU Emissions Trading System and its role in recognizing sectors that cannot pass on the costs of carbon.

Online Radicalism: Time to take down prohibited content permanently

12 December 2016

This article addresses the issue of online radicalism and calls for the permanent removal of prohibited content.

The road to the valley: Start-up and scale up in the EU

17 January 2017

This article discusses the challenges and opportunities faced by start-ups and scale-ups in the EU.

The EU must do more to tackle the problem of particulate matter

22 November 2016

This article emphasizes the need for the EU to do more to address the issue of particulate matter and its impact on health and the environment.

The case for reforming the European arrest warrant: Alexander Adamescu vs. Romania

27 October 2016

This article examines the case of Alexander Adamescu and its implications for the reform of the European arrest warrant.

New-build and ageing soviet-era nuclear plants on EU’s eastern borders pose a serious threat to Europe’s security

10 November 2016

This article highlights the potential security risks posed by new-build and ageing soviet-era nuclear plants on EU’s eastern borders.

Reformed ETS system must acknowledge the inability of non-ferrous metals, ferro alloys and silicon producers to pass-on regionally imposed carbon costs

22 November 2016

This article stresses the need for a reformed ETS system that accommodates the challenges faced by non-ferrous metals, ferro alloys, and silicon producers.

The need to counter extremist propaganda more effectively

10 January 2017

This article calls for increased efforts to counter extremist propaganda to prevent radicalization.

The EU must be more responsible about our brands, ensuring that there’s trust

10 January 2017

This article underscores the importance of ensuring trust in brands and promotes responsible business practices.

The Diageo Consumer Information Standards (DCIS), together with the Diageo Marketing Code, are at the heart of our commitment to communicate

1 January 2017

This article explains how the DCIS and Diageo Marketing Code are integral to the company’s commitment to transparent and ethical communication.

Youth worker - the future of work

1 January 2017

This article discusses the future of work and the role of youth workers in shaping it.

Brexit: What next?

1 January 2017

This article examines the potential implications of Brexit on various aspects of the economy and politics.

Responsive EU/Regional government policies to improve the ‘Attractiveness’ of the EU

1 January 2017

This article suggests ways in which EU/Regional governments can improve the attractiveness of the EU to businesses and citizens.

Addressing the unmet need in advanced breast cancer: a pan-European call to action

2 January 2017

This article presents a pan-European call to action for addressing the unmet need in advanced breast cancer.

The need for a European approach to microplastics is urgent

1 December 2016

This article stresses the importance of a European approach to tackling microplastics as a pressing issue.

The need for a strong platform for European works

1 December 2016

This article emphasizes the importance of a strong platform for European works in promoting collaboration and innovation in the EU.

Avms-directive: Legal framework must balance competitiveness and consumer protection

1 December 2016

This article discusses the need to balance competitiveness and consumer protection in the context of the AVMS-directive.

EADV Supplement - May 2016

A Parliament Magazine special supplement on engineering and sustainable development.

1 December 2016

This article provides a special supplement focusing on engineering and sustainable development.

PM+ Partner Content

Related Organisations

EADV Supplement - May 2016

A Parliament Magazine special supplement on engineering and sustainable development.

2 June 2016

Download the report below.

30 May 2016

A Parliament Magazine special supplement on engineering and sustainable development.
Law firms circumnavigating EU lobbying rules, say transparency group | The Parliament Magazine

A Parliament Magazine special supplement on protecting Europe's outdoor workers from skin cancer.

EADV Supplement - May 2016
31 May 2016
Grâce à nos amis du Trombinoscope, notre interview avec les Commissaires européens chargés de l'économie circulaire traduite en français.

Energy Union roadmap
18 May 2016
Dods EU Monitoring brings you a compilation of the main initiatives that have been or will be presented by the European Commission under the Energy Union strategy and their state of play.

Public Tenders
The latest public tenders from across the UK and EU

Latest Blog Posts

- Populists flourish after financial crises - but they get found out at the end
- There is nothing 'hard' about Brexit
- Shift happens, but it's not always good science

Site Sections

Home
Content
Policy
Magazines
PM+
Thought Leader
Events
MEP Awards 2017
Press Releases
Dods EU Monitoring
Editorial Calendar
Services
Dods People
Dods Monitoring
Dods Research
Dods Events

I understand ()
Law firms circumnavigating EU lobbying rules, say transparency group | The Parliament Magazine
